The National Debt

It is amusing to hear the Copperheads discuss, with nods and shrugs betokening knowledge of the subject beyond the resource of their hearers, the dire calamities consequent upon the accumulation of our "immense war debt" According to their learned calculations, in a few years our people will be taxed as some of the Richmond rebels represent themselves—so heavily that their whole real and personal property would not sell for enough to pay their war tax This twaddle will do very well for Copperhead organs to palm as capital upon their illiterate and wilfully gulled patrons in order to secure a covert and deadly hostility to the present Administration, but it will not do to tell as truth to men capable of discerning between truth and falsehood It is the policy and purpose of these North ern emissaries of Jeff. Davis to deny to the North everything which may tend to strengthen its Union element and if the United States Government could to day be rendered absolutely bankrupt in men, means and credit to carry on the war, those vile traitors would fall upon their knees and thank the devil for being true to his own We know that the present debt of the United States would prove an unbearable burden if the rebel democratic party had it in their power to make it so, but they are not strong enough in our legislative council to work any harm The debt would never be paid if the Copperheads were in power, or in such large majority of the people, with their present treasonable military organization, as to prevent the collection of a righteous and necessary tax

Union men see no cause of alarm in the present or prospective indebtedness of the country There is no real cause for alarm, nor will there be should the war continue for half a century The subjugation of the rebels under arms and now arrayed in the field against the Government, and the subsequent awarding of justice by an indignant people to the secret hordes of cowardly and traitorous assassins who slink to and from their midnight meetings in the North, are the first things to be done in the opinion of every truly loyal citizen When this has been fully accomplished—is it assuredly will be—the public debt can be readily and very easily disposed of

The Government lands of the United States now amount to fourteen hundred thousand millions of acres, a single turnip or onion raised from each acre of Uncle Sam's farm would sell for enough in the aggregate to pay off the entire present indebtedness of the country, and leave a balance in the treasury At less than two mills per acre this land would sell for enough to pay the debt, while two millions and a half of acres have already been sold for thirty four millions of dollars But we shall not be called upon to part with our public domain in order to liquidate the debt Notwithstanding the natural drain upon our industrial population and the general tendencies of the war to devastation commerce and manufactures still thrive the wealth of the country and the value of property increases in a ratio unparalleled under such circumstances, and our people are continually becoming better enabled to meet the issues of a heavy debt without disaster or inconvenience To meet the necessities of the war, additions are made to our population by hordy immigrants from European countries in such numbers that when peace once more crowns our land, our numerical strength in all the branches of productive industry will exceed the figures we claimed at the outbreak of the rebellion No trouble need be borrowed on account of our National debt Copperheads and other mercenary speculators may raise the price of gold and depreciate our National currency for the time, but our National credit cannot be impaired by their most wily efforts any more than they can limit our natural and National resources

TWO YEARS AT THE DALLES—Rev Mr Condon says, in the Home Missionary that in two years the Congregational church has increased from five members to twenty four Sunday school has eighty five scholars and fourteen teachers a house of worship has been built, and with the exception of $100, has been paid for, which cost $2 000 and the prospects are exceedingly good for the future

Great excitement results at Victoria from these reports

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE DAILY OREGONIAN

LATER FROM THE EAST.

Dates to August 6.

One-half the Rebel Army marching to the Potomac

Withdrawal of 30,000 troops from the Army of the Potomac.

One-third of the Army on the way to Harper's Ferry to Repel the Invasion.

The remainder remain in the Works before Petersburg and Richmond

Progress of the Raid--Brutality of Ferragers

Rebels explode a Mine under our Works at Petersburg.

Failure of their Scheme

CHICAGO Aug 6—The following are the main points of a letter referred to in a telegram to day furnished for publication in a letter dated City Point Aug 2d which says Before this reaches you about one third of this army will be en route for Harper's Ferry to oppose the rebel invading force The remainder will remain in front of Petersburg and this point

At an interview between Lincoln and Grant the latter obtained reliable information that from one third to one-half of the rebel army are on the Potomac or marching in that direction and the balance are holding the intrenchments at Petersburg and Richmond Grant is still confident

An officer from the front who arrived in this city to day confirms the statements made in this letter He says that the forces sent from the Army of the Potomac consists of the 2d corps and division 5 numbering in all about 30 000

HARRISBURG, Aug 6—Of the number of rumors in circulation concerning the rebel invasion nothing can be traced to a reliable source We still have communication with Greencastle Dispatches from there indicate no excitement and refer to no force of rebels in such close proximity as the rumors place them It is certain however that they hold Hager town They advanced with a small force to Middleburg yesterday between which place and Hagerstown their foraging parties are reported as conducting themselves in the most brutal manner

From rumors this morning it is believed that the rebel force has been withdrawn and once more posted at Hagerstown where the rebels evidently intend to pause for reinforcements The fact that they were signaling by rockets last night is indicative that there is either a force in close proximity or that they are in possession of the town desirous to form the advance of approaching parties of their exact location

WASHINGTON Aug 6—The National Intelligencer in an extended criticism, pronounces Grant's campaign as the most unsuccessful thus far undertaken

Grant has taken effectual measures to drive the rebel forces from Cumberland valley

NEW YORK Aug 6—Judge Russell has decided the case of Gen Dix for the suppression of the World and Journal of Commerce must go before the Grand Jury

NEW YORK Aug 7—The Herald's special reports that the rebels exploded a mine under our works on Friday No particulars known except that little damage was done

It is generally believed that Sheridan has been assigned to duty on the upper Potomac

The Herald's 5th army corps correspondent says that both armies are entirely employed in strengthening their works

The Baltimore American, of yesterday says of the invasion The best we can hope is that the rebels will not attempt a serious invasion of Maryland and Pennsylvania We have a competent force if they were in proper position to force them from this side of the Potomac All that is needed is competent generalship to make our forces available

The Petersburg papers say the rebels brought into action only two brigades in repulsing our troops before Petersburg One brigade repulsed us with a charge that drove our men who could not get away from the breastworks and made prisoners of all who were left behind

NEW YORK Aug 6—The Ocean Queen from Aspinwall with 280,000 in treasure has arrived

WASHINGTON, Aug 6—Dispatches from Admiral Farragut dated the 2th says We are now ready for an attack on Mobile I am waiting for the land forces to get into position They will be ready about the 29th or 30th

Information has been received that the Union officers placed under fire at Charleston have been exchanged

Refugees from Fredericksburg report that the town was not permanently held by either side but both federal and rebel scouts make their appearance occasionally Recently a rebel conscripting force appeared at Fredericksburg and impressed all that were capable of bearing arms There is a small detachment still in the woods looking for those who escaped

NEW YORK Aug 8—The 18th corps' correspondent says The mine sprung by the rebels surprised no one Our forces were aware of their intention It occurred on the afternoon of the 30th and was immediately succeeded by a rapid and successive volleys of musketry The smoke and explosion had scarcely cleared away when our men answered the rebel fire drowning the rebel yell with wild cheers in derision of their failure of the midnight operations The enemy probably intended to have blown us up as we ran out towards their line and charged through it, but they did sadly miscalculated the distance as the explosion took place five rods in advance of the head of the gap Not a particle of the debris was thrown into any portion of our lines, and our sharpshooters did not even think it necessary to answer it The explosion could bear no comparison to the magnitude of the Burnside mine Immediately perceiving the failure they were satisfied in raising from behind the works and pouring upon our men a terrific musketry fire This developed new batteries and they fired with far more accuracy than hitherto but it caused only a trifling loss hardly more than would have been sustained ordinarily in picket firing. The enemy must have suffered more, as they exposed themselves by firing fast volleys and were in full range of our batteries which was in greatly superior numbers to theirs

NEW YORK, Aug 8—The Tribune special dispatch says Gen Ames was dangerously wounded in the charge made by the rebels after exploding their mine

The Herald's City Point dispatch of the 8th says Gen Grant and a portion of his staff left for Washington the day previous

The Herald's correspondent at the department of the Susquehanna says High authorities, acquainted with the the general situation of this vicinity believe a heavy engagement will come off at or near Sharpsburg or Boonsboro on the old Antietam battle ground, at Gettysburg perhaps further up Our movements and that of the enemy forces indicate such a result It is supposed that Longstreet command is the rebels

It is difficult to ascertain where the rebels are posted, but the impression among military men here is that a collision will take place near Middletown, 18 miles from Frederick

Gen Hunter has been superseded by Sheridan

BALTIMORE Aug 7—It is reported here that a force of rebels were crossing the Potomac yesterday between Hancock and were going in the direction of Wheeling

The same authority says that Early has been ordered to Lynchburg to accompany an Ethan Wheeling is the point to be attacked We do not consider the report reliable

WASHINGTON Aug 7—Charleston papers of the 3d contain Atlanta dispatches to the 1st, which say that the city had been shelled half an hour Last night the enemy began moving on our left The Macon and Atlanta railroad trains have been running regularly

NEW YORK Aug 6—The Herald's Nashville dispatch of the 4th says that the missing 4th N Cook's expedition except 100 Sherman is said to this raid is being successful Everything is quiet in front

Letter from Placerville

[FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT]

PLACERVILLE Idaho Co I T Aug 1st 1864

EDITOR OREGONIAN

A failure in correspondence during the last month, must be attributed to your correspondent, being on the wing and therefore indisposed to spend a few hours in letter writing

Since my last I have visited Idaho and Boise cities and have made the acquaintance of the magnates and aristocrats who style them selves town proprietors The latter city I see City is situated in the centre of the Central Idaho valley through which runs Boise river and at 60 miles from its confluence with the Snake I will not present you a city of our acquaintance without which all the best of our towns are consequently without a title Boise has stores and private residences [illegible] should judge there were about 100 houses in the city and suburbs There are two other streets in embryo and not finished on each side of the main street and lots are held at from $200 to $300 each according to location but the two streets on the east of main are the ones which of them will become the broadway of the future city Buyers are scarce and chary It is considered that what is now the main street will be but secondary to another yet to be selected There are two or three pretty good adobe houses now erected, and a few good frame buildings but the balance are mere mud hovels and as for the expression of the variety of structures and high valuations that peculators profess I cannot discover a new and better street

Fort Boise is situated about a mile back from the city at the foot of hills and presents a very pretty appearance being built of brown and stone On the Fourth of July when I was there the Stars and Stripes were raised over the quarters, with a salute of light guns at sunrise and at night all hands and the outsiders joined in tripping the light fantastic toe till the wee sma hours Morning The occasion to this excellent diversion was only $6 in legal tenders and the proceeds were collected for the benefit of a soldier who lost his arm while fighting a rebel some short time since Gentlemen from Boise Auburn and Owyhee counties all met together here as the most appropriate and pleasant manner of spending the anniversary of their country's birth day

Before leaving Boise City I became assured as are the citizens themselves that at no distant day Boise City will take her place as second town in the territory Certainly located as being 30 miles south 30 miles from Idaho City 100 from Silver City Boise and at the time from Owyhee she becomes the converging point of travel to and from those places she will draw their supplies sufficient as she is in the midst of the finest agricultural country in the Territory

The stages from Salt Lake have a terminus here as also those of Owyhee and Silver City and it is mooted also that a bank will shortly be established Boise City lacks nothing but timber which has it procure to be hauled a distance of eight miles over a mountain road from the head of Crooked & Bush at a cost of $100 per thousand Bodfish & Co however, propose furnishing lumber cheaper than that when their steam mill, within a mile of the city goes into operation Already they have a raft of some 200,000 feet of logs tied up and are still bringing more Stone is the natural building material of this section and nature has abundantly supplied them with it only two miles from town as also plenty of lime stone Justly these enterprising citizens have at no expense procurred a paper to be called the Tri-Weekly Statesman, which will blazon forth to the world the natural advantages of the lovely spot

On arriving back to Idaho City I had the pleasure of attending court in the capacity of a Grand Juror at my own expense under direction of Alex C Smith, of Lewiston, a gentleman of the "stuged cat order" who brought the Attorney to time by opening court at 7 o'clock A M, and demanding their presence at that hour under penalty of a $500 fine This threat acted as a salutary charm to these circumlocutory professionals causing them to be on hand at the appointed hour unkempt and unshorn and often without their "bitters" and breakfast After the call of court these gentlemen who had arrived in haste would ask permission to return to their offices for books which being granted they would gleefully retire to the nearest house got their bitters and breakfast and return into court with a book under their arm conscious of their dignity under the eye of such a judge as they used to call him

Mining news is scarce and is being narrowed down to the creeks only water being almost a scarce as twenty dollar pieces The Kootenai excitement is rolling backwards they say there have been no diggings found that will pay, that the whole northern country is a swamp, &

Mr Blankinner a former resident of Portland died recently in Idaho City and his remains were accompanied to the grave by a large concourse of citizens, among whom we counted 100 members of the Masonic fraternity clothed in regalia

Col Raymond's quartz mill at this place is rapidly being pushed ahead and his [illegible] expects to be grinding in September

Flax Culture.

EDITOR OREGONIAN

Your valuable suggestions upon flax culture in a recent editorial have led me to collect a few more facts which may be of use to our farmers

1st How to raise flax successfully

"Flax" says a writer in the Encyclopedia Britannica prospers most when grown upon land of firm texture resting upon a moist subsoil It does well to sow oats or potatoes as it requires the soil to be in a fresh condition without having too much Lands newly broken up from pasture suit it well as these are generally freer from weeds than those that have been long under tillage It is usually most expedient to apply manure directly to the flax crop as the tendency of this is to produce overluxuriance and thereby to mar the quality of the fibre, on which its value chiefly depends For the same reason it must be thickly seeded the effect of this being to produce tall slender stems free from branches The land having been ploughed in autumn is prepared for sowing by working it with the grubber harrow and roller until a fine tilth is obtained On the smooth surface the seed is sown broadcast by hand or machine at the rate of three bushels per acre and covered in the same manner as clover seed

Lime says Johnston is injurious to flax, diminishing the strength of the fibre of the stem Hence Belgium flax is not grown upon land until several years after lime has been applied Other products need lime The following table exhibits the amount of lime removed from an acre of land in the following crops—the straw and grain reckoned

		Lime
Wheat	25 bushels	87 lbs
Barley	35
Oats	50	8
Turnips	2 tons	108 8
Potatoes	9	56 0
Red clover	2	126 0

The three last exhaust the lime most freely and fit the ground for a crop of flax According to the Encyclopedia Americana there are the varieties of flax the first produces tall and slender stems with very few branches and affords the longest and finest fibres the second produces numerous flowers and is the most proper for cultivation where seed is the object the third produces short and fine fibres the fourth is the common and is intermediate between the two It is important not to mix the seed of the three varieties as they ripen at different periods and therefore the first should be sown more early and the second at greater intervals than the third

It is probable also that lime which only injures the fibre will not harm the seed ourselves

The first writer quoted remarks that the difficulty with flax cultivation that he forsees will be the pulling of any advantage it must undergo a process of partial manufacture requiring an abundant supply of cheap labor But the difficulty has been partially if not wholly overcome by what is known as Schenck's process rewetting invented to an improvement on that plan by Mr Watt It is thus described in the Annual Report of the Royal Society for the Promotion and Improvement of the growth of flax in Ireland

"The flax straw is delivered at the works by the grower in a dry state with the seed on The seed is separated by metal rollers and the straw acted by farmers The straw is then placed in vessels chambers with the exception of two which serve the purpose of putting in and exchanging the straw the top which is at certain times opened for the double purpose of steeping and ventilating The frame is then laid on a perforated false bottom of iron and the doors being closed on it and tightly by means of screws steam is admitted by a pipe from the exhauster and the vessels filled with hot steam and fermenting, in fact in the act of steeping the straw [illegible] the fibre [illegible] of the plant The steam [illegible] the long process of rotting in the field [illegible] months necessitated previously to the flax being fit for the scutch mill from time to time and the [illegible] ascertained by using a pump or other means will [illegible] that the straw is sufficiently steeped [illegible] candidate for the [illegible] house will [illegible] nature of the [illegible] vessels in the chambers and [illegible] effective manner [illegible] passed the right [illegible] the epidermis readily [illegible] of the latter, being the greater part of the water to run into the saturated straw and [illegible] splitting it up longitudinally The straw being free of all products of decomposition is then easily dried and [illegible] from readily [illegible]

Rather if these methods [illegible] the flax is never from trouble It has only to [illegible] straw with the [illegible] and [illegible] in the shed [illegible] who has not [illegible] the [illegible] flax will attend to the rest

In Ireland the flax culture exceeded from 21 040 in [illegible] 1 [illegible] In the upper [illegible] is little or no [illegible] Flax culture has been taken [illegible] flax the first produces tall and [illegible] stems with very few [illegible] and affords the longest and finest fibres the second produces numerous flowers and is the most proper for cultivation where seed is the object the third produces short and fine fibres the fourth is the common and is intermediate between the two It is important not to mix the seed of the three varieties as they ripen at different periods and therefore the first should be sown more early and the second at greater intervals than the third

CHRISTIAN COMMISSION.—The meeting at the M. E. Church in this city last evening, to organize a Christian Commission, auxiliary to the National Commission, was called to order and Gov. A. C. Gibbs appointed chairman. Rev. G. H. Atkinson was chosen Secretary pro tem. Prayer was offered by Rev. Thos. H. Pearne. The permanent officers were then elected as follows: Rev. G. H. Atkinson President: Rev. O. S. Frambes Secretary; W. S. Ladd Treasurer; Messrs. J. N. Dolph, J. R. Weeks, Rev. D. Rutledge, Rev. P. S. Caffrey, Rev. S. Corneline, and H. W. Corbett were chosen a permanent committee. The Commission thus organized will be auxiliary to the National Christian Commission, at Philadelphia, and the ladies of Portland are invited to organize a Commission to aid this one. A circular address, for distribution throughout the State and adjacent Territories, will soon be printed.

DIVING.—The losing overboard of an amalgam pan from the steamer Oregon at Couch's wharf, in this city, recently, has given rise to some questions regarding diving. Several attempts have been made by noted Acapulco divers, who are said to be experts, to descend to the depth of thirty feet and fasten hooks to the pan for raising it, but they have been scarcely able to remain under water long enough to reach bottom. This may be owing to the rarity of the water in the Willamette, which is said to be uncommonly light, as according to some past report of the U. S. Coast survey it is given at several degrees less than most rivers in the United States. But be that as it may the champion in diving heretofore known as "Kanaka George," and we wonder that he has'n't tried the pan diving before now. A few evenings since a Mr. Richards lost his gold watch in the river at Knott's wharf, which "George" recovered for him, at one dive, at the depth of twenty feet.

WIND AND DUST.—About noon yesterday the wind suddenly rose from the south east, and with it the dust, which is now an impenetrable powder, and the eyes of "everybody"—who was on the street at the time—were completely filled, to say nothing of the pure white laces, the silks and calicos, that were scarcely to be found in our stores after the gust was over. A man who said he had been down in San Francisco," informed us that it was "just a regular Bay city day." By turning, back to the wind, and looking through goggles, the American flag could be seen flying at the peak of No. 2 Engine Company's flag staff. San Francisco weather! Delightful! wouldn't it be, for a Web-Foot?

A JAM.—The arrival of the steamer Wilson G. Hunt, at her wharf in this city last evening, was attended with almost as much of a "jam," and rush, on some occasions last spring, when there was scarcely room for the number of passengers bound up Stairs! (as if that was the only place in the upper country.) The jam last evening consisted of a large number of passengers, many of whom might be seen jostling about among empty lager beer kegs, sacks of ice, horses, wagons, and hotel runners, and well filled cantenas of treasure. The purser informed us that the passengers "eat their regular meals and made the connections through with tickets." The messenger of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express brought a very heavy treasure.

NARROW ESCAPE.—We are informed of a circumstance that happened near the 'old saw mill,' above the rush factory of Mr. Walker, on Monday last, which nearly resulted in the drowning of a small boy, son of Mr. McDermott. Several boys had congregated in the vicinity and were playing about the river, when the one mentioned fell into the water, and was at last sinking the third time, when a young man named Love, from Vancouver, rushed into the stream and saved the drowning child. Our informant says it was several hours before life was restored. There should be greater precaution exercised by parents for the welfare of their children, before fatal accidents of this character are recorded.

CARELESSNESS.—There is a stringent ordinance which forbids any person from depositing glass in the streets, where it is likely to inflict any damage upon the foot of an animal that might happen to pass along the thoroughfare, yet it appears often to be overlooked, and at various times people owning horses in the city are compelled to have operations performed on their hoofs for the removal of glass that has imbedded them, through the carelessness of some one. The duty of the city officers, in this matter, should be carried out to the fullest extent. The rotten planking of our streets is bad enough, in all conscience, but when to that is added a box of broken glass or junck bottles, it becomes "rough" in the extreme.

MILLS EAST OF THE CASCADE RANGE.—We observed a choice lot of water melons on board the steamer Wilson G. Hunt last evening, as she arrived from the Cascades, that were raised east of the mountains, in the vicinity of Dalles city. From the appearance of these samples we should judge they were superior, if any thing, to like products in this county, and equal to the best raised in the "Willamette" Valley, so much envied by our neighbors on the eastern side.

IMPORTED STOCK.—We have before alluded to the fact of the superior outfits of stock that have arrived in this country the present season from the Eastern States, the truth of which was more recently attested by the appearance in our streets of two handsome black Jacks, brought from the State of Pennsylvania, for the Willamette Valley, which are larger in size than any animals of the kind at present in Oregon.

RECORDER'S COURT.—The business of the Recorder's Court appears to be a little more brisk than for some time past. The following cases were disposed of yesterday: Wm. Lowery, disorderly conduct, plead guilty, $5 and costs, paid. J. Bloom, charged with violent, riotous and noisy conduct, and assaulting S. Lovy, was found guilty and fined $20 and costs, amounting to $55 20 which was paid. Several cases appear on the docket for to-day.

FREEDMAN'S RELIEF ASSOCIATION.—The meeting of the Freedman's Relief Association, at the Congregational Church in this city on Monday evening, was addressed by C. H. Brackett, Rev. S. Cornelius, J. H. Mitchell, Esq., Judge G. H. Williams, and Rev. G. H. Atkinson. The choir volunteered their services, and a contribution was taken up.

CATCHING BEAVER.—A resident of this city yesterday caught a young beaver, about half grown, in his door yard, where it had been catching chickens for a morning meal. The animal was taken alive, and an attempt will be made to tame it. It is a long time perhaps, since beaver were caught in what is now the metropolis of Oregon.

NEW EXPRESS OFFICE.—Wells, Fargo & Co. have established an Express Office at Canyon City, in the John Day mines. Letters, packages and treasure will now be forwarded and received by this Company from that section, with the regularity for which they are noted. James A. Henderson has received the appointment of Agent in the new office.

MILITIA TENTS.—Appearances indicate an encampment of the Oregon State Militia, before many months. J. W. Cook, of the tent and bag factory corner of Front and Ash streets, is manufacturing ninety militia tents, upon a State order, to be delivered by the first of September.

COMMERCIAL.—The bark Almatia, A. B. Richardson Master, will be taken to Oak Point in tow of the steamer John H. Couch to-day, to load with lumber for San Francisco. No freight from Portland except a few cases of pitch and turpentine.

SPECIAL TRIP.—The steamer Julia appeared in new trim yesterday, very much improved, and will make a special trip to the Cascades to-day, with the machinery and boiler mentioned in this paper yesterday.

A COINCIDENCE.—A coincidence of events occurs in our items this morning, which may mystify our readers unless we explain: The Master of the Almatia, and our popular Auctioneer are not "both one," as might be supposed by the names.

THE steamer Pacific sailed from San Francisco, for Portland, yesterday noon.

Dysentery.—For Dysentery and similar complaints of the Summer season, the PERUVIAN SYRUP has proved a remarkable preventive and cure. By imparting tone to the intestinal mucous membrane, it places this surface in the best possible condition to resist the irritation of crude and indigestible articles of food.

Oregonians should test the merits of Dr. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. While it is highly palatable as a beverage, it is unequaled as an invigorator. In the pursuit of fortune at the mines, many persons are exposed to the attacks of complaints of the digestive organs, and of various kinds of fever. It is the very article that has so long been in demand at the mines. Its daily use will restore the tone of a deranged stomach, impart fresh vitality to the digestive functions, and cheer the spirits. Yet the Bitters is the safest of all stimulants. Let the miner who is exposed to hot and dry, wet and cold, be certain to obtain a supply of the genuine Hostetter Bitter, and he will find it a certain safeguard to health.—Sold by Druggists and dealers generally. jy26daw

"A Slight Cold," Coughs.—Few are aware of the importance of checking a Cough or "SLIGHT COLD" in its first stage; that which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected, soon attacks the lungs. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" give sure and almost immediate relief. Military Officers and Soldiers should have them, as they can be carried in the pocket and taken as occasion requires.
REDINGTON & Co., San Francisco, Agents for the Pacific Coast.

Dr. Periodical Headache—so common in uncleared and marshy countries, Tic Douloureux, that most painful affection of the nerves of the face, are often only attacks of ague in disguise—proceeding from the same noxious influence. Jaundice, Dyspepsia and Diarrhœa, are frequently but disguised forms of Intermittent Fever. Even Rheumatism and Epilepsy, often result from the same miasmal cause. For such, Dr. Osgood's India Cholagogue is an unfailing remedy. By striking at the root of these affections, it applies with equal certainty, as for the cure of Fever and Ague in its simplest forms.
Imitations are abroad! Be particular to enquire for Dr. Osgood's Indian Cholagogue. Sold everywhere.

The Rescue

It was in the month of February, 1831, a bright moonlight night, and intensely cold that the little brig I commanded lay quietly at her anchors inside of the Hook

We had had a hard time of it, beating about for eleven days off this coast, with cutting northeasters blowing, and snow and sleet falling for the most of that time. Forward the vessel was thickly coated with ice, and it was hard work to handle her, as the rigging and sails were stiff and yielded only when the strength of the men was exerted to the utmost. When at last we made the port, all hands worn out and exhausted, we could not have held out two days longer without relief

"A bitter cold night, Mr. Larkin," said I to my mate, as I turned a moment on deck to finish my cigar The worthy down easter buttoned more tightly his coat around him, looked up at the moon, and felt of his red nose before he replied

"It's a whistle, Captain, as we used to say on the Kennebec. Nothing lives comfortable out of blankets on such a night as this."

"The tide is running out swift and strong It will be well to look out for floating ice, Mr. Larkin."

"Aye, aye, Sir," responded the mate, and I went below.

Two hours afterwards I was aroused from a sound sleep by the vigilant officer.

"Excuse me for disturbing you, Captain," said he, as he detected an expression of vexation on my face, "but I wish you would come on deck as soon as possible."

"Why, what is the matter, Mr Larkin?" said I

"Why, Sir, I have been watching a cake of ice that swept by us a little distance, a moment ago. I saw something black upon it, something that I thought moved.—The moon's under a cloud, and I can't see distinctly, but so help me God, I believe there's a child floating out to sea, in this freezing night, on that cake of ice"

We were on deck before either spoke another word The mate pointed out with no little difficulty, the cake of ice floating off to the leeward, and its white, glittering surface was broken by a black spot more I could not make out

"Get me the glass, Mr. Larkin, the moon will be out of that cloud in a moment, and then we can see distinctly."

I kept my eye upon the receding mass of ice, while the moon was working its way through a heavy bank of clouds The mate stood by with a glass. When the full light fell at last upon the water, with a brilliancy only known in Northern latitudes, I put the glass to my eye. One glance was enough.

'Forward there!' I shouted at the top of my voice, and with one bound I reached the main hatch and began to clear away the little cutter which was stowed away in the ship's yawl.

Mr Larkin had received the glass from my hand to take a look for himself

See!" he said in a whisper, as he set to work to aid me in getting out the boat—"see, there are two children on that cake of ice!"

I was answered my hail, and walked lazily aft. In an incredibly short space of time we launched the cutter, into which Mr. Larkin and myself jumped, followed by two men who took the oars. I rigged the tiller, and the mate sat beside me in the stern sheet.

Pull for that cake of ice with some thing black upon it, lads" I cried; "put me alongside of that, and I will give you a bottle from each, and a month's extra wages when you are paid off"

The men bent their oars, but their strokes were uneven and feeble. They were used up by the hard duty the preceding fortnight, and though they did their best, the boat made but little more way than the tide This was a long chase—and Mr Larkin, who was suffering as he saw how little we gained, cried out

Pull, lads, I'll double the Captain's prize, two bottles of rum, and two months pay; pull lads for the love of mercy pull!"

An convulsive effort at the oar told how will ing the men were to obey, but the strength the strong man was gone One of the poor fellows washed us twice in recovering his oar and then gave out, the other was nearly as far gone Mr. Larkin sprang forward and seized the deserted oar.

Lie down in the bottom of the boat," said I to the men," and Captain, take the other oar we must row for ourselves."

I took the second man's place. Larkin had stripped to his Guernsey shirt, and as he pulled he bow oar, I waited for the signal stroke It came gently, but firm, and the next moment we were pulling a long, steady stroke gradually increasing in rapidity, until the wood seemed to smoke in our oar locks. We kept time each with the long, deep breathing of the other. Such a pull! We bent forward until our faces almost touched our knees, and then throwing all our strength into the backward movement, drew on our oar until every inch covered by the sweep had been gained. At every stroke the boat shot like an arrow discharged from a bow. Thus we worked at the oar for fifteen minutes it seemed to me as many hours The sweat rolled off me in great drops, and I was enveloped in a cloud of steam generated from my own body

"Are we almost up to it, Mr Larkin?" I grasped out.

"Almost, Captain—don't give up, for the love of dear little ones at home don't give up, certain"

Suddenly Mr Larkin stopped pulling, and my heart for a moment almost stopped beating, for the terrible thought that he had given out crossed my mind But I was quickly reassured by his voice

"Gently, Captain, gently—a stroke or two more—there, that will do"—and the next moment the boat's side came in contact with something, and Larkin sprang from the boat with his heavy feet upon the ice. I started up, and calling upon the men to make fast the boat to the ice, followed.

We ran to the dark spot in the centre of the mass, and found two little boys, the head of the smaller nestling in the bosom of the larger—and both were fast asleep! The lethargy, which would have undoubtedly proved fatal, but for the timely rescue, had overcome them. Mr. Larkin grasped one of the lads, cut off his shoes, tore off his jacket, and then loosing his own garments to the skin, placed the chilled child in contact with his own warm, body, carefully wrapping over him his great coat, which he procured from the boat. I did the same with the other child—and then we returned to the boat and the men, partially recovered, pulled slowly back

The children, as we learned when we subsequently had the delight of restoring them to their parents, were playing on the ice, and ventured on the cake, which had jammed into the head of the river, ten miles above New York. A movement of the tide set the ice in motion, and the little fellows were borne away on that cold night and would inevitably have perished, but for Mr Larkin's espying them as the ice was sweeping out to sea.

"How do you feel?" I said to the mate, the morning after this adventure

"A little stiff in the arms, Captain" the noble fellow replied, while the big tears of grateful happiness gushed from his eyes. "A little stiff in the arms Captain, but very easy here," and he laid his hand on his manly heart

IODINE WATER.

IODINE WATER IS THE MOST IMPORTANT DISCOVERY of modern chemistry, and it is impossible to over-estimate its influence as a medicinal agent Iodine has been considered the most useful article in Materia Medica, and many of the most scientific and practical chemists and physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system It is to act upon the

HEART, LIVER, KIDNEYS, DIGESTIVE ORGANS AND GLANDULAR SYSTEM,

and to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to its investigation it remained almost useless until Dr Henry Anderson, a physician and chemist of New York, after years of patient labor and expense, discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve without a solvent This considered impossible by the scientific world is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr J R Chilton of this city, and Prof Booth, U. S Mint, Philadelphia The importance of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the Faculty that it was published in the Medical Journals, and its use recommended to practitioners (see "American Medical Monthly," July 6, 1859, page 76.)

PURE IODINE IN PURE WATER

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of scrofula in all its manifold forms Consumption, Cancer, Heart, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervous Affections Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, etc

AS A TONIC

Its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increased nutrition of the body is the result of the employment of Iodine The patient radiates flesh, strength and color, hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble he becomes full, strong and florid.
